

Enersize Collaboration Lab

At Enersize we are committed to working closer to industry to develop energy optimization of industrial compressed air.

We build our solutions hand in hand with the people who use them, combining our domain expertise with our customers' real-world perspectives.

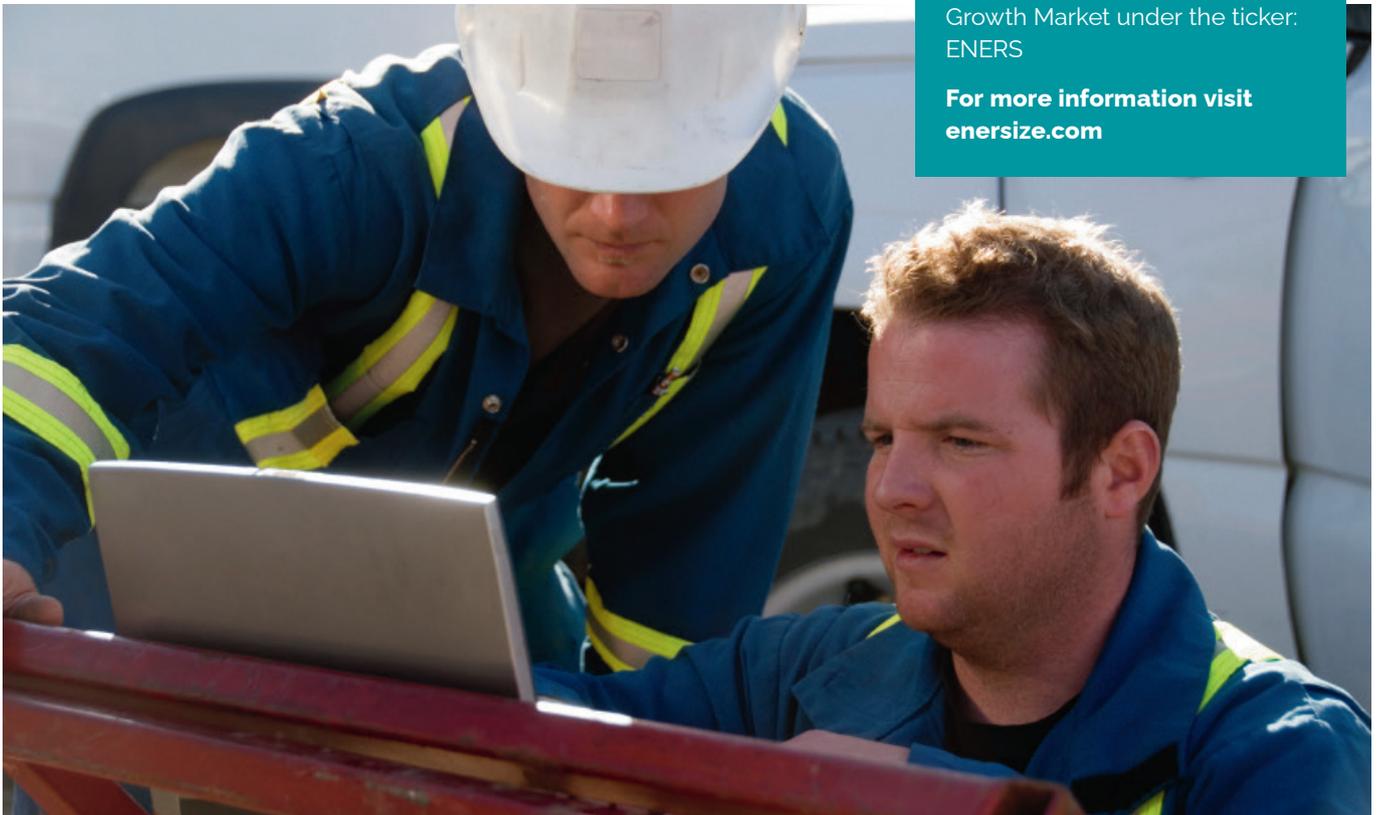

The Collaboration Lab programs bring you closer to Enersize executives and subject matter experts. They also offer great opportunities to network with your peers. We consider it a win-win in our mutual drive for energy excellence.

The Enersize Collaboration Lab is a set of programs and activities engaging with Enersize to create the best possible products, services and overall experience.

About Enersize

Enersize delivers smart software, tools and services for energy optimization of industrial compressed air. Resulting from the merger of three Nordic companies, Enersize customers benefit from the heritage and experience of over 7000 projects. Our expertise and the commitment of our people has made us a recognized global leader in compressed air efficiency software. The company is listed on Nasdaq Stockholm First North Growth Market under the ticker: ENERS

The Enersize Collaboration Lab programs include:

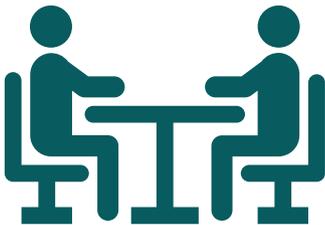

Insight Webinars

The core of the Collaboration Lab is the Insight Webinar program which provides insight into the latest product development and directions.

The webinars showcase where we are heading with the product, our latest development plans and provide not only an early demonstration of the latest release highlights but also include external speakers and cover overall trends in the market space. The webinars are developed with a focus on Enersize partners and customers but are open to anyone interested in energy optimization of industrial compressed air.

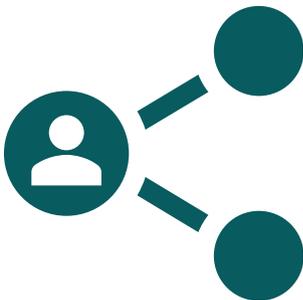

Industry Advisory Council

The councils comprise select groups of leadership from our customers who meet with Enersize decision-makers and experts. The group discusses trends and challenges faced by their sectors and explores how technology can help them excel. It is an excellent opportunity to network and exchange ideas with similar organizations.

Members get an advance view of Enersize projects and innovations and serve as an important sounding board for our product and business development. The councils have a direct influence on the roadmap and strategic direction of our solutions and ultimately contribute to the joint success of participating organizations and Enersize. Membership of the Advisory Council is by invitation only.

Share Your Story

We all love a great story – especially when it's about you. Your journey, challenges and successes are invaluable to others in the industry. We're proud to have a part in that journey and we want your story to be heard.

Sharing in this way has many advantages. You are recognized for your accomplishments. You take our relationship to a higher level, which benefits us all.

Telling your story with Enersize is easy, with many options such as speaking with prospective customers, participating in case studies or video, or engaging with the media or analysts. You also get to meet and network with others facing similar challenges as we develop our customer community and related activities.
